

Tempest

Tribal Seeds

Lay your head to rest under the stars of millions
Take ease in Jah pavilion
I'll be waiting there asunder in post exilian
To receive you from your mission
Well the rain a fall and the storm it come
And the pressure drop and we still ride some more
Cannot stall nor be stuck
When the pressure drop and is still rising up

When the storms lead I astray
And the winds swept I away
Calm my tempest when it's enraged
Need you more each and everyday
When I led myself astray
And the winds swept I away
Calm my storms when they're enraged
Love you more each and everyday
Love you more each and everyday
Need you more each and every way
Need you more each and everyday

Calm myself to wait
For the clouds to fade
There's a bright new day a coming
Still holding onto something
As long as I heart and blood keep pumping
Rhythm and melodies keep on humming
Four strings to make something out of nothing
Rain a fall, storm it come
We still ride and still fight some more
Cannot stall nor be stuck
When the pressure is still rising up

When the storms lead I astray
And the winds swept I away
Calm my tempest when it's enraged
Need you more each and everyday
When I led myself astray
And the winds swept I away
Calm my storms when they're enraged
Love you more each and everyday
Love you more each and everyday
Need you more each and every way
Need you more each and everyday, everyday ya

Always be something
Want to keep me down
But Jah keep I around

When the storms lead I astray
And the winds swept I away
Calm my tempest when it's enraged
Calm my fire when it's ablaze
When the storms led I astray
And the winds carried I away
Calm my waters when they're enraged
Love you more each and everyday

Love you more each and everyday
Need you more each and every way
Need you more each and everyday, everyday ya
Need you more everyday
