

Chrysalis (Two To One)

Tritonal

I'm shedding my skin again
It hurts touching the air
Letting go and I'm diving in
The wind will carry me there

I'm a prism
Refracting the light
Royalty was hiding
In plain sight
All my colors were in disguise, oh, oh

In my chrysalis
I don't miss it at all
All the lives I've lived
I'll find my wings as I fall
In my chrysalis
It all begins
Changing the shape of my life from within
And I'm not afraid to let go
I'll find my wings as I fall
From my chrysalis

Thoughts weaving inside my head
(I) turn em into a crown
Climbed higher than my regrets
And now I'm so far from the ground

I'm a prism
Refracting the light
Royalty was hiding
In plain sight
All my colors were in disguise, oh, oh

In my chrysalis
I don't miss it at all
All the lives I've lived
I'll find my wings as I fall
In my chrysalis
It all begins
Changing the shape of my life from within
And I'm not afraid to let go
I'll find my wings as I fall
From my chrysalis