

Live In Love

Tritonal

The world has convinced you
That there's something wrong with you
That in some way, shape, or form, you have to be somebody other than who you really are
That just simply isn't the truth
There is a beautiful, sweet being within you
A part of you that you've been afraid to show the world
But I want you to know
That who you are is so much more than you could ever imagine
The awareness of who you are
You are life
You are existence and you are creation
You are the truth
You are loved and you matter
You are not alone
Knowing from this moment forth that you are the source of every emotion
Every thought
Every activity in the body
That who you uniquely are is not wrong
Stop apologizing for yourself
You, my sweet friend, are free
You are home
You are safe
From this moment forth
We'll see you through everything that you experience in your li fe
Abide in your heart and live with love
You are home
You are safe
You are free

You are home