

Losing My Mind

Tritonal

It always hits me late at night
I'm wide awake as the world keeps sleeping
I start reaching for the light
To wash the shadows away

The thoughts inside my head are racing out of my control
There's no escaping it now
Still, I know
I will learn to let it go

'Cause losing my mind
Was the best thing I ever found
And wasting my time
Made the whole world just slow down
And all I know is I'm breathing
Finally free of this feeling
Losing my mind
Was the best thing, the best thing I ever found

Broken pieces of the sky
Leave me waiting for the world to shatter
I've been trying to survive
But nothing fits anymore

The thoughts inside my head are racing out of my control
There's no escaping it now
Still, I know
I will learn to let it go

'Cause losing my mind
Was the best thing I ever found
And wasting my time
Made the whole world just slow down
And all I know is I'm breathing
Finally free of this feeling
Losing my mind
Was the best thing, the best thing I ever found

Was the best thing, the best thing I ever found

Best thing I ever found
Best thing I ever found

Losing my mind
Was the best thing, the best thing I ever found

Losing my mind
Was the best thing I ever found
Was the best thing, the best thing I ever found
