

I know I stare a lot at nothing
But I've been questioning what is real
Will I wake up with my teeth kicked in
From drinking all my meals?
And, sure, I would miss some things
Like that satisfying sting
Of the open wounds I keep you in
To stop my childhood leaking
And I am unafraid
I think our destinies are tandem
Because the warmth of you in a place so cold couldn't possibly be random

And if it comforts you
Maybe we both meet back here someday
Then we could talk it through
See someone you left in an old face
And if it comforts you
Maybe we both meet back here someday
A life prior to
'Cause I knew you before I heard your name

I know that you're scared
So focus on my voice
Fill your lungs with air
To be alive is to rejoice
Because one day you won't be
And this will all be history
The way you take your coffee
The patch on my chest from your wet hair

I'll come find you when it all goes dark
But I'll come find you when it all goes dark
I'll come find you when it all goes dark
But I'll come find you when it all goes dark

And if it comforts you
Maybe we both meet back here someday
Then we could talk it through
See someone you left in an old face
And if it comforts you
Maybe we both meet back here someday
A life prior to
'Cause I knew you before I heard your name