

Can't Stop Falling Apart

Troy Cartwright

Dream, I'm livin' the dream
I got what I wanted, but not what I need
Is it too late for me now?

I'm just so sick of tryin' to matter
I mean what does it matter
If none of this matters
I just put another plaque on the wall
I still don't feel nothin' at all

I'm always lookin'
For somethin' to love me
'Cause maybe then I'll love myself
I fill my cup up
But it's always empty
I do everything but nothin' helps
I got a hole the size of Texas down in my heart
I burn the bridge but the truth is I'm afraid of the dark
I can't stop fallin' apart
I can't stop fallin' apart

Scene, I'm so in the scene
Yep, every day is just a movie
But who's playin' me?
(Am I just playin myself?)

I make excuses, for why it all matters
I put off having a family
Then waste a year in the shower
I just put a new lock on the door
Sometimes I wonder who is it for

I'm always lookin'
For somethin' to love me
'Cause maybe then I'll love myself
I fill my cup up
But it's always empty
I do everything but nothin' helps
I got a hole the size of Texas down in my heart
I burn the bridge but the truth is I'm afraid of the dark
I can't stop fallin' apart
I can't stop fallin' apart

I'm so sick of livin' like this, yeah
I should change, what if I already did...

I got a hole the size of Texas down in my heart
I burn the bridge but the truth is I'm afraid of the dark
I can't stop fallin' apart
I can't stop fallin' apart

I'm so sick of livin' like this
Dream, I'm livin' the dream