

Deathbed

Troy Cartwright

I know there's a heaven
Cause I've seen it once or twice
Lookin in your eyes right here tonight

I hope it lasts forever
But even if we say good bye
This will live forever in my mind

When all the sand in the hourglass
Runs out and my race is run
St. Peter calls me home
And all my work down here is done
It could be nine or 90 years
But when I'm down to my last breath
I'll remember this on my deathbed

Moonlight through the blinds
Shinin a halo round your head
I know at some point, this moment's gotta end
Even when it does
This will echo through my life
I'll come back to you a thousand times

When all the sand in the hourglass
Runs out and My race is run
St. Peter calls me home
And all my work down here is done
It could be nine or 90 years
But when I'm down to my last breath
I'll remember this on my deathbed

This will live forever in my mind
I'll come back to you a thousand times

When all the sand in the hourglass
Runs out and My race is run
St. Peter calls me home
And all my work down here is done
It could be nine or 90 years
But when I'm down to my last breath
I'll remember this on my deathbed
Yeah, I'll remember this on my deathbed
