

Breaking Point

True North

Losing it
Lost in conversation with my own mind
Like a war within your soul
I think I'm losing it
Can't believe how close I am to giving in Emotions running wild
And it feels like

I'm at the breaking point
I'm done pretending
I came so close to letting go
But it's never ending
Get me somewhere I can breathe
It's a feeling I can't keep
But I can't shake it off

Someone show me how to carry this weight
When no one else can feel
When your thoughts betray your heart
You try not to break
Woah

Nothing left
A place I can't return to calls my name
Trying to find the fight left in me
But there's nothing left
She sings with such untold beauty
Keep me high for just a little more
Does it ever feel like

You're at the breaking point
You're done pretending
You came so close to letting go
But it's never ending
Get me somewhere I can breathe
It's a feeling I can't keep
But I can't shake it off

Someone show me how to carry this weight
When no one else can feel
When your thoughts betray your heart
You try not to break
Woah

Someone show me how to carry this weight
When no one else can feel your pain
No one else can feel your pain, no

Someone show me how to carry this weight
When no one else can feel
When your thoughts betray your heart
You try not to break
Woah