

Render Me Alive

Tryhardninja

How do I know? How can anyone know
They're not a brain that just floats through space cold
But oh most importantly alone
So alone

Everything I see, a digital dream
The synapse fires to feed a bored fiend
I drown in the dopamine alone
So alone

Sense of dread it's giving, can we call this hell?
Am I dead or living, I can't even tell
In my head been sitting, too long by myself
Please transmit some help

Do you hear me in here calling from between the coded lines
Do you see me counting moons as I sync slowly out of time
Cause there's help wanted in here
Will you soon come appear
To render me alive

To render me alive
To render me alive
To render me alive

All stimulus is a simulation with mandatory participation
Untethered from my body and my soul, wipe my soul

Have you been answering my calls? But I can't translate the words
Sometimes I doubt you're there at all or think I'm none of your concern
Times up and I'm desperate enough to risk what of me remains
Even if you are salvation or my worst mistake

Do you hear me in here calling from between the coded lines
Do you see me counting moons as I sync slowly out of time
Cause there's help wanted in here
Will you soon come appear
To render me alive

To render me alive
To render me alive
To render me alive
