

The Devil's Due

Tryhardninja

Everyone listen up
A story will be told
A cautionary tale
About two brothers' souls

The two boys went into
A casino for the night
They lost their heads to greed
And good luck had run dry
Let it ride, let it ride, let it ride
Threw the dice with their lives on the line
But the eyes of a snake, they don't lie
The devil had them now

The devil always gets what he's due
(Oh, oh)
The devil always remembers you
(Oh, oh)
They bet and lost the game
Now there's a debt to pay
The devil always gets what he's due
(The devil's due)

Some say they're still around
And if you listen close
You'll hear the bullets fly
As they fight plants and ghosts

Doing the devil's work
To capture all the souls
He's making them collect
So they don't lose their own

They let it ride, let it ride, let it ride
Threw the dice with their lives on the line
But the eyes of a snake, they don't lie
The devil has them now

The devil always gets what he's due
(Oh, oh)
The devil always remembers you
(Oh, oh)
They bet and lost the game
Now there's a debt to pay
The devil always gets what he's due
(The devil's due)

Will they ever succeed?
Can they ever be freed?
Whether they win or lose

The devil always gets what he's due
(Oh, oh)
The devil always remembers you
(Oh, oh)
They bet and lost the game
Now there's a debt to pay

The devil always gets what he's due

Because the devil always gets what he's due

(Oh, oh)

The devil always remembers you

(Oh, oh)

They bet and lost the game

Now there's a debt to pay

The devil always gets what he's due

(The devil's due)