We're The Same

Tryhardninja

Step back, step back and count the bones
Each fallen cold heart tears a hole
Within yourself
Open, open the creaking door
And walk through now, forevermore
A careless shell

We're the same
An appetite that only hatred satiates
We're the same
Like glowing embers, I will scorch with vengeful angst
We're the same
River of blood, the banks will rise and make me whole
Let yourself surrender because we both know
It's all love

Close your eyes, the end is near
We're the same, you made that clear
Fade to black, it's all that's left
Your soul corrodes, I'm inside
You can't hide the crimson truth
Give yourself to me and you
No longer have to pretend
When you open them again

Your reign, your reign of genocide
Has caused our paths to intertwine
Now claim your prize
Why hold, why hold on to a soul?
That you lost a long time ago
It should be mine

We're the same
The only choice there ever was was to erase
We're the same
My thirst will not be quenched until the world is razed
We're the same
River of blood, the banks will rise and make me whole
Let yourself surrender because we both know
It's all love

Close your eyes, the end is near
We're the same, you made that clear
Fade to black, it's all that's left
Your soul corrodes, I'm inside
You can't hide the crimson truth
Give yourself to me and you
No longer have to pretend
When you open them again

We're the same
When you open them again
We're the same
When you open them again
We're the same
When you open them again
We're the same

When you open them again
