Hello Ra Ra
This is your grandmother
And I know you can't receive this call
But I know that you know that we are praying for you
We're praying that you have protection all over you
That the blood of Jesus is all around you
And that God already knows what the situation is
And he is working it out
Stay encouraged, be strong, and stay focused
God got your back he will never leave you nor forsake you
He loves you and wants you to remember
That he'll will always love you
You will be released and I believe you released sooner that soon
Hold your head up high and I'll say this again
No weapon that try to form against you shall prosper
The battle is the Lord's and
This battle has been won
I love you grandson and I'll see you grandsoon
I love you
