

Return to Me

Tub Ring

And even when you wake up there will be familiar feelings discrepancies that mean you're not complete

you will return

and every glance behind you has significance and meaning where strangers stare and shadows start to speak my hands are filled with a potential energy when your thoughts are all used up you will return to me and if you move to Baghdad just be careful of the locals

there is no place that's barren of my reach

you will return

too bad a different haircut doesn't mean you're independent when every choice reminds you about me chorus

the wool is lifted from my eyes the time has come to improvise I'm closer than you realize the time has come to improvise again and if you think I'm passive then a lesson still awaits you there comes a day and on that day you'll see