

Arms

Tunng

In your veins
the bed slips away
brick dissolve and the walls get thin

In your arms
I see through my skin
my organs float and the candles blow

In your bones
this sound of the rain sooths something in my darkest heart

This role thing
intangible song
things I know seem to fall away

Here I go
again
Here I go
again

In your brain
lights crept in my eyes stars get stuck in my swollen throat

You're unfine
and not getting close eventure eyes and the world pours in

Here I go
again
Here I go
again
Here I go
again