

I wrote myself a letter
Wrapped it up in plastic
Put it in a hole in the ground
Hoping some years later
I might stumble on it
A grand old man if I'm still around

In the subways
In the underground
Every face it just looks the same

Somewhere out there
There's someone like me
Somewhere out there
There's someone like me

I hear you in the wires
Deep inside the wall
I'm waiting to receive the call
Searching for a shadow
Growing ever dimmer
Pull my image from the mirror

In the subways
In the underground
Every face it just looks the same

Somewhere out there
There's someone like me
Somewhere out there
There's someone like me

And I wish something, I wish someone,
Could beam me up, beam me up
Past the satellites
My body's left on the ground
Sleeping as I find you

Somewhere out there
There's someone like me
Somewhere out there
There's someone like me

Someone out there
There's someone like me
