

Temporary Love

Turnover

It's such a shame
The way we lift ourselves
And tear each other down
We've all been used
Soaked in a false or temporary love
Blemished and hung back out
It's easy to Forget the most Important things
Most of the ones you don't Get something for
There's nothing else
Worth the time
It isn't hard to help

Is that expression you wear
Something you take off
When you are alone
Or is the smile genuine
It can be hard to tell
You're making me believe it

We have to share this love to make it whole
Can't be the only one
I know that carrying
The weight along the way
Is such a strain
Your body's almost done
The light is gone
You're almost home
And overtime
Moves differently than most
Just moody cause
The weather's cold
Still so tired
You had to sleep alone

Is that expression you wear
Something you take off
When you are alone
Or is the smile genuine
It can be hard to tell
You're making me believe it

Is that expression you wear
Something you take off
When you are alone
Or is the smile genuine
It can be hard to tell
You're making me believe it