I sat on my bed and thought about you
It doesn't matter if I can't see you
Just wanting to see you is enough

A memory that remains in my mind so strongly
Your short message
Squeezes my heart in a bittersweet way
But I want to protect this eternal happiness

I want to become the wind and gently wrap myself around you
I want to fly to your world right now
Even though I miss you, even though I miss you
I'll be waiting, just don't forget me

On the footpath I usually walk down, I felt a trace of you
I quietly close my eyes and pray
That it will never go away

You didn't show me how deeply hurt you were
You just smiled
You'll always be special to me
I want to shout that out, even though they're such ordinary words

I want to become the wind and gently wrap myself around you
I want to fly to your world right now
Even though I miss you, even though I miss you
I'll be waiting, just don't forget me

The more the night when I touched you crumbles away
The more your lingering scent makes my love grow

I pray that it never ends
I pray that we can hold each other's hand tighter and never let go

I want to become the wind and gently wrap myself around you
I want to fly to your world right now
Even though I miss you, even though I miss you
I'll be waiting, I'll be waiting

I want to become the wind and gently wrap myself around you
I want to fly to your world right now
Even though I miss you, even though I miss you
I'll be waiting, just don't forget me

I'm here, don't forget me
