The wind sweeps away an amber leaf, fluttering the roadside trees
Quietly, I put a coat over your small, and slightly cold shoulders

Your gentle voice, your innocent face
They make me feel like I'm in the sun

I want to protect you forever, in my arms
As our white sighs overlap
Filling you with these feelings that overflow from me
I felt tender time, as my heart shook

You, who are lost in honest words, are like a kitten
Squeezing my hand tightly in return, you suddenly fawn on me

I felt as though from this point on, we could create
A tomorrow that is full of hope, together

I can flap my wings as far as it takes, transporting your dreams
I'll wipe away your past tears
The light that shines down on us, and seems to be guiding us
Firmly and deeply binds our feelings together

Even if it seems like I'm losing sight of you sometimes
When I close my eyes, I see a photo of you
No matter how many times this season comes around
I swear that my love won't change

I can flap my wings as far as it takes, transporting your dreams
I'll wipe away your past tears

I want to protect you forever, in my arms
As our white sighs overlap
Filling you with these feelings that overflow from me
I felt tender time, as my heart shook

I'll quietly sing a fleeting love song to you
