See you once again, my love

A lie, it's all a lie, those words that time
Will make me forget you are a lie
The pain from the separation has suppressed my heart a little
But my feelings for you are ever the same

I never thought it'd be easy, but
Even though a lot of time passes
It's still awkward without you here

I still love you, and I still want you
I won't ever be okay without you
Even if I seem attached
This is me, I didn't even know
You're all I long for

A lie, that was a lie, those words
That I've already forgotten you are a lie
I just said those words because I thought
I'd look pathetic, and because of my trifling pride
I've never once forgotten you

When I think about a bad habit I've started
I try and forget but
I still you miss you

I still love you and I still want you
I won't ever be okay without you
Even if I seem attached
This is me, I didn't even know
You're all I long for

I've never stopped loving you
My feelings for you have never changed
No my heart keeps growing
Like my love for you
I just try and keep still the moments
When we were happily together, oh...

You had a hard time, in my embrace
It's not until after I've let you go can I think and see clearly
But I love you everyday
I'm still waiting for you
Like I've always done (like always)
See you once again, my love
