

Robot Voices

Twenty One Pilots

One, two, three, four
Three, four
One, two, three, four

They keep me company
The robots and the machines in my room
An understanding
The beeps and tones they make, the only advice I take
The inside jokes are landing (The inside jokes are landing)
Now I'm waiting for the changes (Now I'm waiting for the changes)
Everyone sees (Everyone sees)
Feeling so fancy (Feeling so fancy)

And I just want to dance and style and stay a while (I just wanna, I just wanna)
The lines on the floor (Lines on the floor)
How did you find me? (How did you find me?)

I wasn't looking for love this year
But my robot told me that I shouldn't fear
When I met you I found you safe and warm
And the robot voices would reassure me

(One, two, three, four)
The half-drawn blinds, casting lines
On the floor as my metal friend flashes in time
The daisy-chained power strips generating a newfound loneliness
So I'm waiting for the changes (Now I'm waiting for the changes)
Everyone sees (Everyone sees)
Feeling so fancy (Feeling so fancy)

And I just want to dance and style and stay a while (I just wanna, I just wanna)
The lines on the floor (The lines on the floor)
How did you find me? (How did you find me?)
Woo

I wasn't looking for love this year
But my robot told me that I shouldn't fear
When I met you I found you safe and warm
And the robot voices would reassure me
I wasn't looking for love this year
But my robot told me that I shouldn't fear
When I met you I found you safe and warm
And the robot voices would reassure me

When I met you I found you safe and warm
And the robot voices would reassure me
