

Out on the open sea, on rolling waves
Sail away
Endless horizons all around

Hunting a beast, the beast of the deep
(In the) dark of the night
After many moons, drifting the sea
Hopeless and lost
All was bleak and spiritless

Ships lost one by one
Nowhere to be seen
Swiftly, a squall of stronger wind
Mist on the sea, a devious fog
Wind howling, waves breaking
Shadow from below
Swaying ships from side to side

Then, from the deep void of the unknown
An ancient gargantuan creature emerged
And with it, came death

It came from beneath
From the deep and dark
Serpent of times long gone
Curse of the seas
Bringing pain, terror and fear
Death in the domain of the Hydra

Turmoil and disarray
All was lost, in the deep
All men will meet their end
No one escapes the beast from below
Reign of the hydra is eternal
All is doomed and all is gone

It came from beneath
From the deep and dark
Serpent of times long gone
Curse of the seas
Bringing pain, terror and fear
Death in the domain of the Hydra

It came from beneath
From the deep and dark
Serpent of times long gone
Curse of the seas
Bringing pain, terror and fear
Death in the domain of the Hydra

It came from beneath
From the deep and dark
Serpent of times long gone
Curse of the seas
Bringing pain, terror and fear
Death in the domain of the Hydra