

Over And Over Again

Twinspirits

So many times I tried to find a good reason to live, too many times I just lived for you. We live in distant worlds, but sometimes we seem so close. Maybe I am wrong...

I try to fall asleep every night, but something is burning in my mind. This feeling deep inside is forcing my soul to keep on fighting.

Over and over again, my hands are so tired. Over and over again I'll keep on trying over and over again to win this war!

So many times, tried to be stronger than all of my fears. Too many times I fell down and cried, I never recognized the dark of your evil side until it became clear.

This feeling deep inside is forcing my soul to keep on fighting. Over and over again, my hands are so tired. Over and over again, I'll keep on trying over and over again.

I need to find a way out right now and destroy this nightmare that's killing me over and over again.

My strength is fading over and over again. My hands are so tired over and over again. I'll keep on trying over and over again to win this war!