

A Demon

Twiztid

You're at the end of it I never thought I'd make it here
But here we go again again way out of proportion
My nemesis holding on to every disc collecting them like trading cards
Putting them in memory boxes with the old and broken parts
I no longer answer to your many pleads and now I understand
With good intentions you are still diseased
You did them all the same as you did me
You gassed them up and watched them fall
The demon never changed a fucking beat Predictable weakness but he manipulate others talents around them and drains them because it feels great and when that fails
Or he gets played or you don't do exactly what ever the demon say He'll hold something over head or will take away or he'll tell you he's the reason you were ever great
I can't imagine why someone would want to stay I can't imagine
Why someone would want to get away

Enough is enough cause I feel stuck
Because I gave it all now I don't give a fuck
I'mma leave this hell the devil knows my name
You had me under your thumb, tucked away
Helped you build your kingdom before I realized that you were fake
Should have known that you were a demon

Through time we find that kind we bind to
A true sign that seem right beside you
What's inside my mind is mine let me remind you
I'm the demon that lives deep inside who
You can blame me but you know it ain't me
Be honest lately I know you see it greatly
No ifs ands no maybes cause that old shit is shady
You don't need me to say he only comes out to pay me Cause he don't want to change we
Had to go get away free
Demon try to chase me but I just keep escaping
The hill is steep I'm facing
But I keep on fucking racing from the people who hope my love and will is br eaking
Another pill I'm taking its hard to sleep because the pillows shaking Far from me to be the hero making
Observations I know every body's sees
Lets bring this fucking demon to his knees

Enough is enough cause I feel stuck
Because I gave it all now I don't give a fuck
I'mma leave this hell the devil knows my name
You had me under your thumb, tucked away
Helped you build your kingdom before I realized that you were fake
Should have known that you were a demon

Drawn in by the fellowships and faith
Truth hurts so ocean I play
It don't really matter cause nothing will change
Never close to the truth you were just a lie
Life changed for the better the day I said goodbye
To the demon
The day I said goodbye to the demon

Begone

Enough is enough cause I feel stuck
Because I gave it all now I don't give a fuck
I'mma leave this hell the devil knows my name
You had me under your thumb, tucked away
Helped you build your kingdom before I realized that you were fake
Should have known that you were a demon