

My brain is broken, help me mend
It's all in my head
The world's on my shoulders again
Life's weighing me down
Each time I die, it's the same
All alone, no one around
The old familiar pain

I can't see anything, I'm blind
I can't seem to open my eyes
Don't look and say it's fine
Don't look and say it's fine

Everything's unclear or in my sight
I wanna be something you'll probably never like
I feel no fear, I'm ugly inside
Everything feels much better, since those dark feelings died
They died, they died

Those feelings died inside my mind, now there's a vacancy
If you could hear who's checking in, you would need therapy
He wants to be heard, he wants to be seen
I can't hold him back, he's breaking free
I think my eyes aren't mine anymore

I can't see anything, I'm blind
I can't seem to open my eyes
Don't look and say it's fine
Don't look and say it's fine

Everything's unclear or in my sight
I wanna be something you'll probably never like
I feel no fear, I'm ugly inside
Everything feels much better, since those dark feelings died
They died, they died

Don't think you'll stop me, I'm living right behind your eyes
When they turn red, I've made it inside
Don't worry, you're not alone
I've been sitting here waiting for you
Everything will be okay
Just listen, I'll tell you what to do
I won't be leaving until we have had all of our fun
Open your eyes, there's work to be done

Everything's unclear or in my sight
I wanna be something you'll probably never like
I feel no fear, I'm ugly inside
Everything feels much better, since those dark feelings died
They died, they died