Two Feet

What can I say you
Everything feels washed out
And run down
What can I say 'em
All the men you're around now
I'm not judging
I just want you back
Is that care?
Or unfair?
Again I say that I just want you back
And your hair
What compares?

I tell you darling I just need you here
And my dear, I've seen countless lovers
And let me tell you, nothing's even close
To the love, I feel when you're near me
When your head is resting on my chest
Oh no, on my chest
When your head is resting on my chest
And the sex, oh no

How to behave
When the memories circle
I can't work or
Even complain
It was something about you
That wrapped you
Right around my chest
Is that care?
Or unfair?
Again I say that I just want you back
And your hair
What compares?

I tell you darling I just need you here
And my dear, I've seen countless lovers
And let me tell you, nothing's even close
To the love, I feel when you're near me
When your head is resting on my chest
Oh no, on my chest
When your head is resting on my chest
And the sex, oh no
