

Firefly

Ty Myers

The sun goes down at night
The land is filled with moonlight
That's when you appear
You can feel a change in the air
Everybody's on the edge of their chair
When you walk in the room

I find peace in knowing you're mine
I can see the auburn glow in your eye
Baby, you're a firefly

You're flying across the room
Everybody's watching you
You're in your own world
You come up and you ask to dance
You grab me by my hand
And lead me to the floor

Don't think I've ever been this high
I'm drowning in your flickering light
Baby, you're a firefly

You know what you're doing, you don't have to lie
You got me all confused in the mind
You light up the room like a thousand little stars in the sky
Baby, you're a firefly

We smile at each other when the song ends
We both know where this is going
Young is the night
Flash forward to the bedroom
Don't know if I've told you
But girl, you're quite a sight

You're my only spark in the darkest of nights
And your beam radiates so bright
Baby, you're a firefly

Baby, you're a firefly
Baby, you're a firefly
Baby, you're a firefly
