

Blood Red Sky

Tygers of Pan Tang

Watch the rain... watch the rain

They came out of nowhere, from a thunderous sky
One moment they're here, the next they are gone in the blink of
an eye
They came without warning, from far distant lands
Free from all sins, they ride divine winds
With blood on their hands

Watch it rain on the ocean - From a blood red sky
Watch it rain on the ocean - From a blood red sky

Voices were calling, but no one could hear They attack with surprise, red sun in their eyes and nothing to fear
The rain kept on falling, from a thunderous sky
They left nothing behind but the sound on the wind
Of the souls as they cried

Watch it rain on the ocean - From a blood red sky
Watch it rain on the ocean - From a blood red sky

They came out of nowhere, from a thunderous sky
One moment they're here, the next they are gone in the blink of
an eye
The rain kept on falling, from a thunderous sky
They left nothing behind but the sound on the wind
Of the souls as they cried

Watch it rain on the ocean - From a blood red sky
Watch it rain on the ocean - From a blood red sky
Watch it rain on the ocean - From a blood red sky
From a blood red sky
From a blood red sky
From a blood red sky
From a blood red sky
From a blood red sky
