

Wrong Right Now

Tyler Braden

The six o'clock news that said this world is going crazy
There ain't enough room left in this pay check lately
That 9 to 5 and overtime just don't add up to you and I
Getting out of this house that much yeah what we need is just a little lust
And a chance to leave it all here in the dust

And they're ain't nothing wrong right now
Let it all go down
Go somewhere we can't be found
Let that radio keep count of every slow dance and long kisses
There's no chance we gon' miss one minute of this world when we
're way out
There ain't nothing wrong right now, right now
There ain't nothing wrong right now

Gonna hang me served with my name on it on that back of that fr ont door
Let these work boots wear out there out on the porch
We're a couple dozen miles between this town and you and me
Take a sec and settle down, forget about everything

Cause' they're ain't nothing wrong right now
Let it all go down
Go somewhere we can't be found
Let that radio keep count of every slow dance and long kisses
There's no chance we gon' miss one minute of this world when we
're way out
There ain't nothing wrong right now, right now
Cause' there ain't nothing wrong right now

Yeah what we need is just a little lust
And a chance to leave it all here in the dust
Cause' they're ain't nothing wrong right now
They're ain't nothing wrong right now

No they're ain't nothing wrong right now
Let it all go down
Go somewhere we can't be found
Let that radio keep count of every slow dance and long kisses
There's no chance we gon' miss one minute of this world when we
're way out
There ain't nothing wrong right now, right now
There ain't nothing wrong right now
There ain't nothing wrong right now, right now
There ain't nothing wrong right now
