

Anywhere I Run

Tyler Hilton

Hard to say to the ones I love
Jesus saves anyone who cares
If the sky ain't crying any rain no more
Kicking dust like the kind we're from

Home
Anywhere I run
Anywhere I go

Dare not speak about the way we bleed
Every step along the road we walk
Like the wind that's howling through the valley's many pines
There's a burden for which I've come

Home
Anywhere I run
Anywhere I go

Feel that ground shaking underneath
Thunder coming like the sound of guns
Ain't a prayer worth singing to any kind of God
That damns a river that's going to run

Home
Anywhere I run
Anywhere I go
