

I See Home

Tyler Hilton

Well, for years now, I feel I've been out travelin'
No road, no way, no place to navigate
Just lost in the wind before I even began to try

That all has a strange way of changin'
In a moment like this with you, baby
It's like findin' what I didn't know I was lookin' for

And that storm I fight
It gets still inside

And it's clear to me now
I found a place, somewhere to fall
Somewhere that I can belong
When I see you I see home

Girl, is it me, but ain't the stars aligned?
Is it my imagination or are they a little more bright now?
Yes, just a little more light now?

'Cause I can be a man depended on
I can be somebody's somebody and home to someone
And isn't that such a nice thought to walk with?

And I can feel that smile
That I ain't seen in a while

And it's clear to me now
I found a place, somewhere to fall
Somewhere that I call my own
When I see you I see home

Let the night get cold and let the cold winds blow
And let you and I replay a song my own

'Cause it's clear to me now
I found a place, somewhere to fall
Somewhere that I call my own
When I see you I see home
And it's clear to me now
I found a place, somewhere to fall
Somewhere that I call my own
When I see you I see home

I see home
