

Remember

Tyler Shaw

Many times you have threatened me that you are leaving
Saying something like you're lost, you don't believe in us
I beg to differ, 'cause right here in this moment
You contradict yourself

Think back to when the days didn't feel so short
Sitting with the sun, anything could have happened
Dancing with the stars while I hold you close
Now I read the stories we used to imagine

Remember what it feels like
When you're down, and there's no one left around, baby
Remember what it feels like
Late at night, remember what it feels like

You are always back and forth between emotions
Calling me then hanging up
Which would you rather have?
Every time that you're alone, yeah, you need me there
Yeah, you need me there

Think back to when the days didn't feel so short
Sitting with the sun, anything could've happened
Dancing with the stars while I hold you close
Now I read the stories we used to imagine

Remember what it feels like
Remember what it feels like
Late at night, when we're lying side by side
Remember what it feels like
Remember what it feels like
Remember what it feels like
Remember what it feels like
Remember what it feels like

Remember what it feels like
Remember what it feels like
Late at night, when we're lying side by side
