

Clutching

Typecast

You closed your eyes
Just to kill the conversation
It's raining forever
I think I'll drown myself with my tears

Why does it have to be like this?
So it doesn't mean anything to you
So do you want to see loyalty?
Are these tears not enough for you?
For you

By the sound of your message
I felt you meant goodbye
The raining is never ending
Clutching my emotions remembering the moments passed

Why does it have to be like this?
So it doesn't mean anything to you
So do you want to see loyalty?
Are these tears not enough for you?
For you

I thought it was okay
My feelings unfolded right before my eyes
What did your embraces mean?
Did you mean it when you called my name
My name
My name
My name
My name