When The Sky Starts Falling

Typecast

The sun will be setting sit close to me
It's okay to be afraid
When the sky starts falling, I give you my word
I promise you won't be alone

We both know we'll die soon
Like everything and everyone else
There's no use in trying
'Cause it's all too late

So let's brace ourselves, let it fall
Hold my hand, don't let go

We both know we'll die soon
Like everything and everyone else
There's no use in trying
'Cause it's all too

So let's brace ourselves, let it fall
Hold my hand, let it go

Let it burn, let it burn us down to the ground
I will scream your name
Let it drown us, let the water fill up our lungs
I'll still be faithful

This will be painful but nothing can stop it from happening
I hope we survive
If we won't be able to hide from the tide
This life was worth living with you by my side

Let it burn, let it burn us down to the ground
I will scream your name so loud
Let the water fill up our lungs
I'll still be faithful
