

Up Again

Typhoon

Here you thought you'd put the past behind you
Why does it all keep coming up again?
Doubled over in the bathroom crying
Why does it all keep coming up again?

Like a tourist coming home everything how you left it

And you thought you'd put the past behind you
Why does it all keep coming up again?
Toss and turn until the nightmare finds you
Why does it always wake you up again?

Yeah you stumble out of bed reaching for your medicine

Yeah you thought you'd put the past behind you
Why does it all keep coming up again?
Out your window see the graveyard rising
It's alive - they're all just coming up again

Oh god now they're heading this way

It's the dark night of the living dead
And you're losing your head
You go for your phone
As the sleeping pills start kicking in
And the room starts to spin
You think to yourself
This isn't how it's supposed to happen
But you got what you wanted
Yeah they all want you now
The pale faces looking in

And this is where we leave you
It won't come up again