

Relentless

Tysondog

Holding back the time when the weather is cold
You drive the fire in my soul
Hitting back double time doesn't matter at all
It doesn't matter where you go
In my life it's always been a life at night
If I told you to claim my light
It doesn't matter where you are
In hell or not that far
You can always help

It doesn't matter
It doesn't matter where you are
It doesn't matter where you are

Raining down at the sound of another machine
Hope my love is all you need
In the street there's a man and a record machine
That sound is all that will matter now

It doesn't matter where you are
In hell or not that far
It's night time in my head
I know it's where you
Figure you got to get to
But it's always so untrue
Do me a favour ride on the other side of life
But I know when you've gone too far

With a photographic mind
Another photographic mind

It doesn't matter where you are
In hell or not that far
It's night-time in my head
In the morning in the right place and right time
You've been waiting for the light
It's weird feeling for morning coming
Out of the dark you call my name
Looking through my eyes
Reading the sadness in my smile
Troubled waters rising high
Oh yeah you fall good call
What a life follow me with a summer disease
