

Every Heart Is Burning

U.D.O.

A knight in shining armour rides
The mountain ridge and peak
His glowing eyes are open wide
A saviour to the weak

Eternal life of sacrifice
No silver and no gold
A grand and mystic paradise
A story to be told

Rising like fever and breaking the chains
Firing an unending flame

Every heart is burning
Every pain returning
Like a lightning raging high

Heading to the morning light
The tempest's rage increase
And dauntless spirits lifted high
The golden realm of peace

Windless land of livid grim
Crowned with twining snakes
Fighting on the war within
The twilight never fades

Rising like fever and breaking the chains
Firing an unending flame

Every heart is burning
Every pain returning
Like a lightning raging high

Every heart is burning
But a soul will never die
Every pain returning
Like a starlight from the sky

His humble soul in sadness lay
Compressed by shadows drear
Gladness seemed so far away
But pain and grief so near

The billows of disgorging sin
That wrap him like a shroud
The wicked have no peace within
Their wailings shrill and loud

Rising like fever and breaking the chains
Firing an unending flame

Every heart is burning
But a soul will never die
Every pain returning
Like a lightning raging high

Every heart is burning
But a kiss can never lie
Every pain returning
Like a starlight from the sky