

Time Control

U.D.O.

Time has come to face this sad reality
Grinding down our precious sacred ground
Gambling our acceptance of society
Play the game, take the blame, toss the winning coin

Take the helm before it's over
Revenge of higher forces getting closer

Time to take control and hail your own forgotten words
Time to take control and take a chance for all it's worth
Time to take control and try to break this endless curse
Time to take control, we're not the owners of the earth

There is no need for all this stupid luxury
Essential goods are slowly running out
We even skim the souls of the minority
Make your mark on closing dark, why play this bloody game

Take the helm before it's over
Revenge of higher forces getting closer

Time to take control and hail your own forgotten words
Time to take control and take a chance for all it's worth
Time to take control and try to break this endless curse
Time to take control, we're not the owners of the earth

Time to take control and hail your own forgotten words
Time to take control and take a chance for all it's worth
Time to take control and try to break this endless curse
Time to take control, we're not the owners of the earth
Time to take control and hail your own forgotten words
Time to take control and take a chance for all it's worth
Time to take control and try to break this endless curse
Time to take control, we're not the owners of the earth