She said it wasn't cold
She left her coat at home that day
She wore canvas shoes
White canvas shoes
Around her neck
She wore a silver necklace
It was given to me by my father, she said
It was given to me

She took the back way home Passed the lights and the summer hill Turned left onto the north strand And on, and towards the sea

He said he was an artist
But he really painted billboards
In large capital letters
Large capital letters
He was telling jokes
Nobody else would listen to him

I saw you that day Your lips were cherry red Your legs were crossed Your arms wide open

Your hair was coloured gold Like a field of corn You were blown by the wind You were blown by the wind

Walk, walk, walk...to the water Walk with me a while Walk, walk, walk...to the roadside Walk me in the light

A room in the wild town
Sea facing views
A man with a suitcase
Full of things he doesn't need
I'm looking through your window
I'm walking through your doorway
I'm on the outside
Let me in
Let me love you
Let me love you
Let me...

Walk, walk, walk...to the water Walk with me...yeah Walk, walk, walk...to the roadside Walk with me again
