

You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf
You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf
You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf
You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf

Sometimes I feel shy, all alone at nighttime
Sometimes I feel shy, all alone at night
And when the day time starts to feel like nighttime, I'm all alone in mine

I rub my key back and forth
I rub my key back and forth
Sometimes I'm hot, then I'm cold
Sometimes I'm hot, should I go?
I rub my key back and forth
I rub my key back and forth
I push the pedal to the floor
I push the pedal and let go
Laying by a fireplace, touch a flame, doesn't burn
Ice dripping out my eyes, diamond fire, popsicles
And the white flag mountain in my hand
Shadows ten feet tall in my head

You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf
You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf
You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf
You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf

Sometimes I feel shy, all alone at nighttime
Sometimes I feel shy, all alone at night
And when the day time starts to feel like nighttime, I'm all alone in mine

I rub my key back and forth
I rub my key back and forth
Sometimes I'm hot, then I'm cold
Sometimes I'm hot, should I go?
I rub my key back and forth
I rub my key back and forth
I push the pedal to the floor
I push the pedal and let go
Laying by a fireplace, touch a flame, doesn't burn
Ice dripping out my eyes, diamond fire, popsicles
And the white flag mountain in my hand
Shadows ten feet tall in my head

Whenever I walk past you I feel like a ghost
Whenever I see you I feel so alone
I guess I'm invisible to you, oh oh, oh oh, oh

You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf
You and me know some sheep can't sink their teeth into a wolf
Sometimes I feel shy, all alone at nighttime
Sometimes I feel shy, all alone at night
And when the day time starts to feel like night time, I'm all alone in mine
