Inversion

Ulcerate

Subversion deep within
And across totality
Invert the decaying nature
To renew as affliction
Muted in suffocating pain

Never subside
Never betray

Distant figures
Immersed in their lifeless conception
Becoming the divided, bitter and cold

Never subside
The horror of endless waking

As its shadow
Beholden and enslaved in disdain

Dead obliteration
Veil with misery
Only an imprint on the arid and meaningless

Immolate the tortured cries
Emaciate all
They regress and adhere

The agony draws near
Inside each trace of blood
It withers and dies
