

Look beyond the sun
We're seeking
Believing
We're reaching
Life has just begun

The city lights are all aglow
The hunger of the night penetrates me
Like a wild animal
Whose passion is burning to break free

The people stop and stare
Feel the presence they've come to rely on The've lived this life too long
Nothing matters cause life must go on

It's such a shame
When did it come to this?
I'm left to sit alone and reminisce
Some time ago, maybe way back when
We had love for each and every man

Return to life
Eternal life

So you wanna play the game
Well roll the dice, boy and take your chances
But don't you lose your soul
Everything that glitters, you know ain't gold

And you'll back one day
And try to figure what steps you've missed
Consumed by the heat of the pace
Another victim's added to the list

It's such a shame
When did it come to this?
I'm left to sit alone and reminisce
Some time ago, maybe way back when
We had love for each and every man

Return to life
Eternal life