

I May Never

Uncle Earl

I may never see them again
I may never see them again
I love to see the fall come around
All the colors there on the ground
I may never see them again

I may never hear them again
I may never hear them again
Put on my old grey winter coat
Sing the sad summer songs I wrote
I may never hear them again

I may never feel them again
I may never feel them again
Tuck me into a warm feather bed
Think of things I should have said
I may never feel them again

I may never love them again
I may never love them again
Snow will cover the ground while we sleep
Spread its dark and coldness deep
I may never love them again
