

Low Between Zebras

Underworld

Drift
Liberation
A happy wanderer journeying without purpose
Traveling directed by intuition, not target

To move through places with no other objectives than to experience the moment detached
From normal days, baggageless
Going to places to find out what it's like

Slide there
Frictionless
Skater, roller, perpetual motion
Moving these

No angle
An open book into which things fall
Gypsy
Roaming
Nomad

Drift
Frictionless movement
Moving across the landscape
Not in a straight line
An unpredictable end point
Not traditional geometry

Is it even possible to predict the end point of a drift journey
A resting place of wind driven snow
An object in motion by wind or water or landmass

Nirvana
Heaven
Time is not the master
Time made the servant
Time is linear
Deception

Movement changes the perception of time
Drift through time
Forever changed
Forever altered