

First World Problem

Unknown Mortal Orchestra

When I woke
I found my phone in the bed clothes
And the curtain glowed crimson through the window
To think of her was to want her
Would you want me too?

You've got it all and yet
You're betting all you have on a first world problem
You've got to understand
That I could be your man or a first world problem

I know that I was better as a loser
She's eating birthday cake inside the disco
I may be lost but I'm a lost man
In love with you

{Chorus x7:}
You've got it all and yet
You're betting all you have on a first world problem
You've got to understand
That I could be your man or a first world problem

You've got it all and yet
You're betting all you have on a first world problem
First world problem
First world problem
First world problem