

Gods In Decay

Unleash the Archers

At last the chance to meet has come
I've watched them from afar so long
Anticipation hits me to my very core
I've got to warn them of the force
That seeks to end them at the source
If The Collective comes their lives will be no more

And though the way they stare as I walk by makes me uneasy
I've got to do all that I can to save the day
But when I face them in their gilded halls they laugh unceasing
They will not listen to a single word I say

Gods in decay
This is not the famous human race, that I came to love
No one to save
I am not an equal just a slave, and my hope has come undone

There's no denying their decline
All they had built now lost to time
They had the chance and chose to let their planet die
Instead of fighting to return
They hid away and let it burn
I was a fool to ever think they'd care to try

It breaks my heart to know their happiness was simulated
Only illusion, they were lying to themselves

Gods in decay
This is not the famous human race, that I came to love
No one to save
I am not an equal just a slave, and my hope has come undone

Hopelessness has crushed the light
Knowing what I yearned for was a lie
Am I alive
Or am I just A.I.

Gods in decay
This is not the famous human race, that I came to love
No one to save
I am not an equal just a slave, and my hope has come undone
No one to save
I am not an equal just a slave, and I'll never rise above
