

Ripping Through Time

Unleash the Archers

Now a blinding flash before me
All at once I can not see
There a spatial gap is looming, anomaly
Something draws me through the curtain
A force only I can feel
Is this the end of my siege?

Eons and light-years away
Far beyond the fires of our sun
Legend will carry this day on and on!

There's no forsaking what little time we have
It's for the taking, a new momentum

Caught within a spinning vortex
No direction, time or place
Falling toward a destination, uncharted space
Will this rid me of the demons
Lashed upon my soul's disgrace
Or will they simply give chase?

Eons and light-years away
Far beyond the fires of our sun
Legend will carry this day on and on!

There's no forsaking what little time we have
It's for the taking, a new momentum

Wandering the hallways of my life
The visions frozen just for me
Every mistake I've ever made, displayed

The chance to liberate me from my crimes
My soul's rebirth; recovery
I'll tear away and purge my past at last
Anew

Defy the laws of quantum gravity
Break through the dimension
Hide in a world of super-symmetry
A space-time horizon