

Thick & Thin

UnoTheActivist

Yeah, you know I'm saying
I thought we had plans
Cardo got wings
They fell kinda short

And even though she thick, her patience running thin
And I take off my shoes you place yourself within
And she want me to be perfect in this life of sin
Baby, let's start over, girl, let's try again
She said:

Bae, don't you lie to me (I thought that you loved me)
I'm not the enemy (You put me on front street)
Say that you ride for me and say that you're missing me (You say you could t rust me, you want everything but me)
But we was like merrily (I better get out of here before things get ugly)
Now we are just history
I wish that you missing me
I wish that you missing me (I thought that I mattered by the way that you to uched me)

And I take off my shoes you place yourself within
And she want me to be perfect in this life of sin
Baby, let's start over, girl, let's try again

You scream fuck me right now but lately you be screaming "fuck me"
Sometimes I think 'bout us but most the time I think 'bout money
Got to know that it ain't my fault but I don't want you to hold no grudge
You my work of art you got my heart just don't give up
And I hope you understand that I got to do what's best for me right now
And every time I say that she reply like "What about me?"
It's not what you think 'bout others, damn why'd you make this 'bout you?
And then she sit and start to question all my loyalty, yeah, yeah, uh

And even though she thick, her patience running thin
And I take off my shoes you place yourself within
And she want me to be perfect in this life of sin
Baby, let's start over, girl, let's try again
She said
I thought that you loved me
You put me on front street
You say that you could trust me
You want everything but me
Better get out of here before things get ugly
I thought that I mattered by the way that you touched me

And even though she she thick, her patience running thin
And I take off my shoes you place yourself within
And she want me be perfect in this life of sin
Baby, let's start over, girl, let's try again

Baby, we can slow dance
We dance in the moonlight
I show you the romance, baby girl, let's go
We can even hold hands, just dance in the daylight
Bitches hatin', got no man
Where are my manners? I left without any answers
I thought that I was a cancer

I shoulda just went and advanced
Instead of the enhance, I turned into tin man
I foil these niggas, I pop like boils on niggas, ya dig?
Yeah, yeah, uh

And even though she thick, her patience running thin
And I take off my shoes you place yourself within
And she want me to be perfect in this life of sin
Baby, let's start over, girl, let's try again
She said
I thought that you loved me
You put me on front street
You say that you could trust me
You want everything but me
Better get out of here before things get ugly
I thought that I mattered by the way that you touched me