Toxic words splitting their tongues
What they promised was to hold back the violence
They captured me in this everlasting dream

Letting me forget who I am
I have found within myself
The entire new beginning of our time

The machines strolling through the lands
They created a simulation of our minds

Your ever beating heart will take me through this misery
You can't be fooled by their attempts to destroy
What you created

Your ever beating heart will take me through this misery
You can't come undone

Let me connect my soul with you
Let me enter
I shiver as I touch your shimmering leaves
I've been created to see what's within this world
Let me enter
Take me to your deepest roots

Your beauty still undeniable
Yet so unfortunate to see
Within our cult the innocence
Shall finally bleed

Now that the night has fallen upon the trees of the moon
I hear their 'eko from afar
Our dawn is coming all too soon

I hear their 'eko from afar
