

I don't know why I'm staying around while I feel like this Coming close to running out of tears to cope with it

I can explain what you don't wanna say
Your despair, it's driving me insane
There's beauty in this right here

Once again, I silently found the truth
Once again, I can violently throw the stones on everything I cannot be
It's like a colour that words can't explain
It's like a mirror that reflects yourself

There's beauty and it's right here
There's beauty right here
There's beauty in this right here

Call me when there's something true
Save me at my all-time low I show you what's gold and new Something never seen before

Once again, I silently found the truth
Once again, I can violently throw the stones on everything I cannot be
There's beauty right here

Call me when there's something true
Save me at my all-time low
We can never start anew
Gold will stay forevermore