Unprocessed

Alright

We couldn't save our lives but we're here
Drunk and fucked up so in love what we once had
Now it's over, one last time here
On the streets but they lead nowhere

We could have been at the start of our days but it ends
Stories have been told (stories have been told)

You're so pretty when you're drunk
In a world like that
You're so pretty when you're drunk
In a world like

Time and time again we were not thankful for our gifts
Things we took for granted like a sweet kiss on your lips

We could have been at the start of our days but it ends
Stories have been told

You're so pretty when you're drunk
In a world like that
You're so pretty when you're drunk
In a world like
In a world like that
